DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-2, 7-9, 14-15, and 20-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Oguchi (2002/0023152).

Regarding claim 1, Oguchi discloses a method of processing a packet in a gateway device (3 in figure 1) connected to a plurality of communication paths providing connection with corresponding networks (see intranets A, B, C in figure 1), the method comprising: providing a search utility in the gateway (figure 3), the search utility enabling the retrieval of both a forwarding information and a network address translation (NAT) information necessary for processing the packet in a single search operation (see figure 11), wherein the NAT information specifies a new address for an original address in the packet (see before and after in figure 11), the forwarding information specifying one of the plurality of communication paths to forward the packet (see de0, de2, and de3 in figure 11 and the paths that connect de1, de2, and de3 to different network domains); receiving the packet containing the original address (see 100 in figure 3); determining the forwarding information and the NAT information for the packet in a single search operation by using the search utility (see figures 3 and 11); substituting the new address for the original address in the packet (see before and after translation in figure 11); and forwarding the packet with the new address on the specified one of the plurality of communication paths in the forwarding information (see forwarding I/F in figure 11 and communication paths in figure 1).

Regarding claims 2, Oguchi discloses a single table for both the forwarding and the NAT information (see figure 11).

Regarding claim 7, Oguchi discloses the forwarding information comprises an interface on the gateway device, wherein the forwarding comprises sending the packet on the interface, wherein the packet is received in the form of an IP packet (see figure 1).

Regarding claims 8-9 and 20-21, claims 8-9 and 20-21 are apparatus claims that have substantially the same limitations as the respective method claims 1-2. Therefore, they are subject to the same rejection.

Regarding claims 14-15, claims 14-15 are computer readable medium claims that have substantially the same limitations as the respective method claims 1-2. Therefore, they are subject to the same rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3-4, 10-11, 16-17, and 22-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Oguchi in view of McClure (6,496,439).

Art Unit: 2616

Regarding claims 3-4, 10-11, 16-17, and 22-23, Oguchi discloses all the claimed subject matter as described in previous paragraph including providing the source address and destination address as a key (see paragraph 0158) except for the table uses a content addressable memory (CAM). However, McClure discloses the use of CAM to store translation tables (see col. 1, lines 40-41). Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the CAM as taught by McClure in the system of Oguchi in order to meet the design criteria of a particular implementation.

5. Claims 5-6, 12-13, 18-19, and 24-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Oguchi in view of Cunningham et al (6,888,837).

Regarding claims 5, 12, 18, 24, Oguchi discloses all the claimed subject matter as described in previous paragraphs except for a plurality of tables partitioned according to service domains. However, Cunningham teaches a plurality of tables for overlapping address domains (see tables in figures 2A-2C for domains 1-3). Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use different table for different domains in order to resolve ambiguous network addresses across multiple overlapping address domains.

Regarding claim 6, 13, 19, 25, Oguchi discloses a table includes two domains with non-overlapping addresses (see figure 11).

Allowable Subject Matter

Art Unit: 2616

6. Claims 26-27 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-27 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion
